KEY PRODUCTION BIOS:

TRAVIS MATHEWS | WRITER, DIRECTOR, EDITOR

Travis Mathews is an award-winning filmmaker whose movies focus on gay men, emotional honesty and intimacy. His films have screened internationally, in festivals, on cable television and numerous blogs including Butt Magazine. He's been enthusiastically noted as an emerging filmmaker to watch by such diverse publications as MacLife, IndieWIRE and Fleshbot. Informed with a Masters in Counseling Psychology and a background in documentary, Travis takes a thoughtful and naturalistic approach to filmmaking while maintaining a sense of humor about it all.

In 2009 Travis started an ongoing video web series called In Their Room about gay men, bedrooms and intimacy. The first of several episodes was filmed in San Francisco, and earned him best film honors at Good Vibration's Indie Erotic Film Festival. During the making of the series Travis wrote his first feature screenplay, I Want Your Love, which went into production in early 2011.

KEITH WILSON | DIRECTOR OF PHOTOGRAPHY

Keith Wilson is a filmmaker, photographer and performance artist whose films have aired on public and cable television and have been exhibited around the world including the Berlinale, the London Film Festival, South by Southwest and the National Gallery of Art. He has an MFA in film production from the Radio-TV-Film Department at UT-Austin.

JACK SHAMAMA | PRODUCER

An award-winning writer and pioneering Blogger, Jack Shamama has won numerous awards for writing and producing many highly influential adult films. In 2010, "Smut Capital of America", which he produced, premiered at the Tribeca Film Festival.
